

Intuitive Life Coaching – Helping you find your inner sparkle. Dare to be different
www.saraheywood.co.uk Email: sarah@saraheywood.co.uk

Message from Raziel – 14th August 2020

Imagine a world where magic exists everyday. Where from the moment you awake you feel the beauty of love and have the thought of possibility arise in your mind.

This is a reality you can create for yourself. Learning to bypass the human mind and allow the energy of the divine to permeate through can change your perception on life in a moment.

You are a being of light. You have travelled here to explore the possibilities of being you. You have brought with you many gifts some of which you may be aware and others perhaps not.

Imagine if you could manifest everything you thought in an instant and your life was to be transformed. The truth is you are manifesting every day. Your thoughts are the gateway to your experiences. What you think is created in some way.

With this in mind, what thoughts have you been having recently.

What has been your focus?

What aspects of the world and your life have you been concentrating on?

Take a moment in each day to be with your divine self, to connect with the energy of love that you hold and to see what would be the most perfect day, for you today.

Intuitive Life Coaching – Helping you find your inner sparkle. Dare to be different
www.saraheywood.co.uk Email: sarah@saraheywood.co.uk

As a being of light, you are also here as an example to others of what could be. Are you living your true potential? Or are you holding back due to a lack of belief in you? Be honest with yourself. Who are you and who would you truly love to be?

All the resources exist in the world to create all that you believe is possible. You have the power to draw them towards you and to utilise them. Imagine yourself right now holding out your hands. See the energy pouring from them. As you focus this energy it reaches out to all the places that you are thinking. The resources then show themselves – they are highlighted. Are you ready to see them and receive them?

Take a moment to scan your own energy. What does it feel like? Is it flowing freely or are there some niggles within that are blocking the flow? Think about others you know around you. What can you see in them?

Your body is an amazing barometer. It indicates to you everyday where you are at and what is to be your focus. Taking time to get to know your body will help you to connect more deeply with your higher self for it is this aspect of you that communicates through your thoughts and feelings and body.

Let today be the most perfect day for you

With love

Archangel Raziel